D. H. S. TEAM WINS FROM D. P. S. TEAM

PLAYED CLOSE GAME AT EBBETS FIELD, THURSDAY AFTERNOON WITH SCORE OF 8 TO 7—TEAMS
WELL MATCHED.

Daytona high students took a thrilling 10-inning engagement from Orr's Daytona Public Service team, Thursday afternoon of this week at Ebbets field, winning out by an 8 to 7 score.
After allowing the Public Service team, whose lineup contained four of last year's "town" team players, to gain a three-run lead through errors in the first two innings, the school representatives tied the score in the last half of the ninth, and put two more across the plate in the tenth after the Public Servicers had tallied once in their half of the inning.

Bill Brown beat out a slow roller to third to start the first for Daytona, and went to second on Harry Erickson's hit through short. A pair of errors allowed them to register the first runs of the game. For D. H. S.
Ray Green walked, stole second, and counted through the medium of a pair of infield outs.

Kreitzberg started the second by getting a life on an infield error and hits by O. Orr and Brown put him across the rubber, with the third D.
P. S. run. A stolen base and infield errors allowed Brown to score the fourth. D. H. S. went out in order in this round.

There was nothing doing for either side in the third, but in the fourth Orr's team filled the bases with only one down and then failed to score. D.
H. S. got its second run in this stanza.
Gardiner first up, drawing the first of the three passes handed him by the generous Mr. Orr. He promptly stole second and third, and scored while Drake was being thrown out at first.

D. P. S. failed to dent the rubber in the fifth, but D. H. S. added another on an error, a stolen base and a hit by Eddie Baker. E. Green getting the credit for the run. D. P. S. came right back in the sixth, Linerick getting a hit after two were out, stealing second and scoring on an overthrow of third. D. H. S. added one in its half on Gardiner's second base on balls, a steal, a balk, and a hit by Branch.

D. P. S. got its sixth run in the "lucky seventh" on Porter's drive, steals of second and third and an out at first. The high school players went out in order in this inning. D. P. S. sent three men to bat in the eighth, who were painlessly exterminated. In the last half of the inning, however, Gardiner took his third stroll of the afternoon and safely meandered around the paths, the old reliable Branch helping him on his way.

The ninth proved fruitless to the Public Service team, although they got a couple of men on the bases. D.

H. S. tied it up in their half, partly through the generosity of certain members of the Public Service team.

With one down, Newman singled and scored on two successive wild throws.
Orr stepped into a slow outshoot to start the tenth, and limped gleefully down to first. Linerick ran for him and stole second. Infield outs allowed him a chance to score, and he improved his opportunity. Right at this point D. H. S. spilled a little of that "comeback" stuff and won the old ball game. R. Green was called out on strikes to start the inning, but when Linerick juggled Gardiner's roller to third, the D. H. S. captain reached first. Branch inserted another ripping single over second and when C. Orr, in centerfield, let the ball go between his legs, Gardiner scored and Branch went to third.
Drake came through with a hit to short and Branch brought in the winning run.

Horse Chestnut Tree in Bottle.

Horse chestnuts can be grown in a bottle of water. Use a bottle with a neck wide enough to hold the chestnut, adding water to just touch the nut and stand it in a window. Roots will form, followed by a stem and leaves.
If the water is constantly supplied the tree can grow for years in the bottle.

Skunks Enemies of Caterpillars.

A new field of usefulness has been found for the much-ridiculed skunk in the fact that it is a vigorous enemy of the full-grown range caterpillars. Birds are of no service whatever in destroying these large caterpillars, but skunks devour quantities of them, and this is another reason why these little creatures should receive more consideration than they now do.

WINDING THE CASE

By LAWRENCE ALFRED CLAY.

(Copyright, 1914, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

They had been married six months—George Curtis and Kitty Cline. All had gone well, when one afternoon Kitty's Aunt Prue came visiting. She hadn't seen the young wife since her marriage and, after drawing a long breath and getting a good toe hold, she said: "And now I want to ask about George."

"Is he a kind and loving husband?"
"Why, Aunt Prue, George is just the best man in this world!" was the enthusiastic reply.

"How much salary does he get?"
"Twenty-five per week."
"And how much do you save per week?"

"Save? Why, we haven't saved anything as yet."

"Then it's wuss than I thought far-far wuss. Who handles the money?"

"Why, George does, of course."

"That's it—that's it! He handles the money and does what he pleases with it. It is no wonder."

"But doesn't the husband always save the money?"

"He does where the wife is an idiot. Lord alive, child, any wife is five times as capable of handling the house money as the husband. We never should have been worth a hundred dollars if I hadn't taken the money matter into my own hands."

When the subject was changed the wife found herself thinking it would be very nice to handle the money, but was almost sure the husband would not consent, but he came home with a surprise for her. It happened he had heard that Aunt Prue was at the house that afternoon, and knowing her ideas on finance he suspected.
"Kitty, I've been thinking things over today."

"What things?"

"Don't you think you could make my salary go further than I do?"

"Yes, I do, but—"

"Then I'll turn it over to you for the next three months."

"You are so good, George."

"You can run the house and everything."

"Why, I surely thought you would object."

"But you see I don't. I have saved $50 in the last six months, though I was keeping it secret. I guess, however, you can beat my record and not try very hard."

"I shall surprise you, dearest."

She surprised him all right. As there were only two of them, he had been buying porterhouse steak. For dinner they now had a round, and seeing that she was a tenderfoot the butcher had charged her the same price. The grocer weighed her sugar and butter short, and there was a skimping of potatoes. In two weeks, however, the wife had managed to save $14, and then Aunt Prue came again.

"You don't want to put your money in the bank," said the old lady. "You send for one of those second-hand sewing machines that are advertised as good as new. You can surely save thirty-five dollars."

"I will."

"A man called at the house yesterday with stock in a silver mine to sell. It is a stock to be sold only to ministers and widows, but after some coaxing, and after promising never to tell, he let me have fifty dollars' worth of stock for $15. It will pay dividends of 50 per cent."

"But I'll buy the stock for you now, and in two weeks you can pay me for it. Never miss a good thing if you can help it. I would not say anything to George about it if I were you."

During the last month of the three the husband looked so starved and anxious that the wife expected to hear him say any day that he must turn to barks and roots to get enough to fill up on, but he carried the thing through like a patriot.

"Well, the twelve weeks are up," said the husband one evening.

"And I think I can show you that I am a bit of a financier," was the proud reply.

The sewing machine had been brought over that afternoon, and the husband was led into its presence.

"How much?"

"Only fifteen dollars."

"I know of three second-hand machines here in town that you can buy at five dollars each, but never mind that."

"Here is some silver stock that Aunt Prue bought for me."

"Then she ought to give you your money back, for that swindle was exposed years ago."

"Oh, George, have I been swindled?"

"Most surely, but what else?"

"I bought two seashore lots."

"I heard you had and looked them up. They are on the edge of a big New Jersey swamp."

"And—and—"

"Did you buy half of Lake Erie for a melon patch?"

"Not quite. I only bought some stock in a Peruvian gold mine."

"I see. Now we will figure up what you have saved in your twelve weeks."

"Don't, George—don't!" she sobbed.

"But, you see—"

"If you won't, you may call Aunt Prue an idiot."

"As I was going to say—"

"And you may handle the house money to the last day of your life!"

And George grinned and kissed her, and Aunt Prue hadn't been in the house since.

Florida's New Liquor Law

The Davis liquor-regulation bill, which was passed by the upper and lower houses of the Florida legislature, Thursday of this week, and now awaits Governor Trammell's signature, is a serious blow to the liquor interests of the state, and is generally regarded by prohibitionists as the next best thing to making the traffic wholly illegal. A copy of the original Davis bill, which was adopted without amendment, follows:

Section 1. That no intoxicating liquors, wines or beer shall be sold, in counties where the sale of the same is allowed by law, in less quantities than one-half of a pint and no one shall sell any liquors, wines or beer that are not contained in securely sealed receptacles.

Sec. 2. That no person who is a dealer in intoxicating liquors, wines or beer shall sell or furnish any intoxicating liquors, wines or beer in any quantity to an habitual drunkard personally known to him, of whose intemperate habits such person has been notified in writing protesting against the selling or furnishing of such intoxicating liquors, wines or beer, by the wife, father, mother, brother or sister of such drunkard.

Sec. 3. That no person who is a dealer in intoxicating liquors, wines or beer, by himself or another, shall sell or cause to be sold or furnished or permit any person in his employ to sell or furnish any minor, female, or any person who is at the time intoxicated or drunk, intoxicating liquor, wine or beer, in any quantity.

Sec. 4. That it shall be unlawful for any person keeping or carrying on, either by himself or another, a place where intoxicating liquors, wines or beer are sold by retail or wholesale to employ a minor or female in his place of business.

Sec. 5. That it shall be unlawful for any person to sell intoxicating liquors, wines or beer, between the hours of 7:00 o'clock p. m., and 7:00 o'clock a. m.

Sec. 6. That it shall be unlawful for any person to sell intoxicating liquors, wines or beer on Sunday, or on general, special or primary days, either state, county or municipal.

Sec. 7. That no dealer in intoxicating liquors, wines or beer shall himself drink, consume or give away any intoxicating liquor, wine or beer, in any quantity on the premises where such liquor, wine or beer is sold, nor shall he permit or suffer any assistant, servant, employee, purchaser or any person whomsoever to drink, consume or give away any intoxicating liquor, wine or beer on such premises, nor shall he provide any other premises with the intent to defeat the policy of this act.

Sec. 8. That no gates, doors, windows or openings of any kind shall connect the place of business of any dealer in intoxicating liquors, wines or beer with any house or lot so as to permit ingress into or egress out of such house or lot from or into such place of business; that no blinds or screens, chairs, settees or benches or tables shall be set up or used in such place of business; that no musical, vaudeville or other attractions shall be permitted in such place of business; that no game or games shall be permitted to be carried on in such place of business, nor shall any loitering be allowed therein; that no obscene or sensuous picture or statuary shall be displayed in any such place of business; that throughout the night a light or lights shall be kept burning in such place of business, and no doors, blinds, curtains, shades, screens or other things shall be allowed to prevent persons on the outside of such place of business from seeing inside thereof at all hours of the day and night and it shall be the duty of the proprietor of such place of business to see that this section is complied with.

Sec. 9. That no retail dealer shall trust, or give credit to any person or persons whomsoever for intoxicating liquors, wines or beer, and for a violation of the provisions of this section no debt or demand for intoxicating liquors, wines or beer shall be enforced in a court of law.

Sec. 10. That it shall be unlawful to sell, dispose of or distribute, or keep for sale, disposal or distribution any meals, provisions or food of any kind whatsoever in any room or place of business where intoxicating liquors are sold or kept for sale.

Sec. 11. That intoxicating liquors, wines or beer shall not be sold or exposed for sale in any room of any building the floor of which room shall be more than three feet above or below the sidewalk immediately in front of such room, or in the absence of such sidewalk, the floor of such room shall not be more than three feet above or below the ground.

Sec. 12. In this act, unless the context otherwise requires, "person" includes a body of persons whether incorporated or not.

Sec. 13. That any person violating any of the foregoing provisions of this act shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof, his license shall be forfeited and he shall be fined not more than one thousand dollars ($1,000.00) or imprisoned in the county jail not exceeding twelve (12) months.

Sec. 14. That this act is not intended to repeal any existing law in reference to the sale of intoxicating liquors, wines or beer, unless in conflict herewith, but chapter 6516 of the laws of 1913 and all other laws in conflict herewith, are hereby repealed.

Sec. 15. That this act shall take effect at midnight of the night of September 30, A. D. 1915.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Lucas expressed regret at leaving Daytona as they like the city better than any place they had ever lived and say they will always remember the beauty of the place and the good friends they made while here. Mr.

Lucas will carry with him at all times advertising matter of Daytona and will extol the attractions of the "Prettiest Winter Resort in the World," where he expects to later make his winter home.

PROMINENT TEXAS PEOPLE

LEAVE FOR CITY FORT WORTH

Dr. and Mrs. Burton Fain left on Thursday for Fort Worth, Texas, from which city they came to Daytona several months ago to spend the remainder of the winter. During their stay here Dr. and Mrs. Fain made many warm friends who sincerely regretted that they did not conclude to become permanent residents of this locality. The genial doctor, who is a brother of Mrs. A. P.

Clark, assisted in the management of Clark's Beach street drugstore during the winter season; but found time while here to become imbued with the notion that this city is blessed with the greatest natural beauty and the most delightful, equable climate in the world. He and Mrs. Fain will go from Fort Worth to Weatherford, Texas, their home. It is probable that after arriving there Dr.

Fain, who is reputed to be one of the ablest physicians in central Texas, will resume the practice of medicine.

Rev. Wm. J. Drew, pastor of the Congregational church, returned on Thursday afternoon from Jacksonville where he had been for several days attending the annual meeting of the General Congregational Conference of Florida and the southeast.

Mr. Drew had a place on the program, his subject being "Problems of the Tourist Church." Mr. Drew states that the convention was a most profitable and interesting one.

Mr. Hamilton and family, who went to Charlotte nearly two weeks ago, were accompanied by Mr. Hamilton's little sister, Emma Louise, who was not well and it was thought would be benefited by the change.

Why the Boundless Dardanelles?

Why did Homer call the Dardanelles "broad" or "boundless," although at the point where Leander and Byron swam it the breadth is barely a mile?

Byron's comment is very neat: "The wrangling about the epithet 'the broad Hellespont,' or the 'boundless Hellespont,' whether it means one or the other, or what it means at all, has been beyond all possibility of detail. I have even heard it disputed on the spot, and, not foreseeing a speedy conclusion to the controversy, amused myself with swimming across it in the meantime, and probably may again before the point is settled.

Probably Homer had the same notion of distance that a coquette has of time, and when he talks of boundless means half a mile, as the latter, by a like figure, when she says eternal attachment simply specifies three weeks."

THINKS DAYTONA HAS GREAT

FUTURE AS A SUMMER RESORT

F. A. Lincoln, proprietor of the Hotel Manhattan at Kissimmee, who in company with Mrs. Lincoln had been visiting Jas. T. Nelson and family for several days at their new home, 46

North Ridgewood avenue, returned to Kissimmee, Wednesday. Mrs. Lincoln will remain for a few days longer.

This was Mr. Lincoln's first visit to Daytona and he was greatly pleased with the city and thinks it has a great future as a summer resort because of the magnificent ocean beach, and, in fact, he was here in part to look up the hotel business on the beach, with the idea of coming here. Mr. Lincoln thinks that the great thing for Daytona is to secure the system of hard-surfaced roads now being agitated which will make it easy for the people of the interior of the state to reach the coast at this place.

Could Follow Them.

It was a small western boy, given to language more picturesque than poetic, of whom this good story was told. The child adored his eastern schoolteacher, young, pretty, fond of dainty blouses and high-heeled shoes —which latter proved none too serviceable in connection with the rough and ready prairie roads. "Is Miss So-and-so around today?" the youthful admirer was asked upon one occasion.
"Yes, sir," came the ready answer.
"Leastways, she's been here. No I ain't seen her, but," his eye following the sticky roadway, "I seen her tracks."

The Great Book.

Henry M. Stanley set out upon his great African exploration with quite a formidable library. One cannot march 18 hours a day under an equatorial sun, and he gave a prudent thought to the long encampments and armed himself with books. But books are heavy baggage and one by one his servants deserted him. As a consequence, Stanley was compelled to leave one treasured set of volumes at this African village, and another at that, until at last he had but two books left—Shakespeare and the Bible. And we have no doubt that had Africa been a still broader continent, even Shakespeare would have been abandoned.TRAVEL ADVICE TO ST. AUGUSTINEThe St. Augustine Record continues to admonish the traveling public regarding the road that should be traveled between Daytona and the Ancient City. A representative of the Daily News interviewed a number of people, who have lately motored to and from the up-coast town, and they all say that the route recommended by the Record is the better one, at this time."The old straight-away route over the King's road or the John Anderson highway ought to continue to be used until such time as county paving is finished. This old road affords much shorter distance between St. Augustine and Ormond, this difference being about seventeen miles. Of course the old King's road is not by any means a good road, but it can be traveled on "high" by automobilists practically every foot of the distance.
This cannot be done on the new county grade, a portion of which between Espanola and Byrd is exceedingly sandy. The grade between Bun-nell and Espanola is now practically impassable for the reason that Road Superintendent Mattox is removing the corduroy, leaving great holes in the road bed, over which automobiles cannot pass save with the greatest difficulty and risk."Mr. Mattox intends to put up a sign on the Moody boulevard, which is already paved, at the point where it crosses the old King's road for the purpose of diverting traffic from the south over the old sand grade. Then there is another bad section just south of Moses Creek, which is fifteen miles south of St. Augustine.
This bad stretch extends for a distance of three miles or more. With some minor repairs therefore to the old King's road, it ought to be able to take care of the traffic this summer, thereby expediting the work of the road gangs on the main county highway."

ADMIRAL T. B. HOWARD

Admiral T. B. Howard, recently appointed admiral of the Pacific fleet, is in the harbor of San Francisco and the four-star flag of an American admiral is flying at the Golden Gate for the first time.

Greatest Poets.

Homer, Lucretius, Dante, Shakespeare, Goethe, Milton, Shelley, Byron, Tennyson, Browning. Perhaps others might be added. It is largely a matter of taste and temperament—although there is but little room for argument about the first six names.

Woman.

The most simple, most frivolous thoughtless woman hides at the bottom of her soul a spark of beauty which neither she herself nor any else suspects, which she never admits if her life runs its normal course, which springs into evidence and reveals itself by actions of devotion or self-sacrifice if fate strikes her those whom she loves. Then she not wince, she does not complain, she gives way to useless despair, she rushes into the breach. The woman who hesitates to put her feet into placid water, throws herself into the perils of the roaring, surging strom.—Lombroso.
